Skills for school. Learnings for life.

At Uniting Early Learning Caringbah, we do more than prepare children for school, we offer learning opportunities to help them for the rest of their lives. We reinforce values such as respect and compassion, alongside reading and drawing, and in partnership with families, we start children on their way to becoming well-rounded people.

We're rated as exceeding the National Quality Standard and follow the National Quality Framework. With a range of experiences and learning opportunities to inspire every child, both inside and outside the classroom, we'll encourage your child to investigate, imagine and explore.

The Bush Kindy program

Once a week, we take our children to Burraneer Bay as part of our Bush Kindy. Based on international best practice in early education, the program gives little people the chance to explore their surroundings, climb trees and use natural resources to play. It's all about supporting them to develop literacy, numeracy, science skills and creative expression by using the natural world around them.

Partnering with parents

We encourage our families to participate in the fun, and value your input and feedback. To make sure you know exactly what's happening at Uniting Caringbah, we offer:

- Updates on your child's learning and development, supported by the use of StoryPark
- Regular newsletters about our service
- Advisory council meetings.
